
WEBSITE DISCLAIMER, PRIVACY POLICY, COPYRIGHT NOTICE & DIGITAL PRODUCT LICENSE

Real life. Real law. Real preparation.

The information provided on this website, including articles, videos, social-media content, downloadable resources, frequently asked questions, forms, templates, subscription materials, and other educational content, is provided for general informational and educational purposes only.

It is not legal advice and should not be relied upon as a substitute for legal advice concerning your individual circumstances.

Louisiana law is fact-specific and may change. The application of a legal rule may depend on facts, documents, deadlines, jurisdiction, court orders, procedural history, and other circumstances not addressed in general educational content.

NO ATTORNEY-CLIENT RELATIONSHIP

Viewing this website, submitting a contact or intake form, sending an email or text message, leaving a voicemail, purchasing a digital product, booking a consultation, joining a subscription or membership program, participating in a rewards program, or communicating with Hampton Law Firm does not, by itself, create an attorney-client relationship.

An attorney-client relationship is established only after:

- Hampton Law Firm has completed any required conflict review;
- The firm has agreed to accept the matter; and
- Hampton Law Firm and the client have entered into an applicable written representation agreement.

Payment for a consultation does not necessarily mean that Hampton Law Firm has agreed to undertake continuing representation.

DO NOT SEND CONFIDENTIAL OR TIME-SENSITIVE INFORMATION

Please do not submit confidential, privileged, highly sensitive, or time-sensitive information through a general contact form, public comment, social-media message, or unsolicited communication.

Information submitted before an attorney-client relationship is established may not be treated as confidential or privileged to the same extent as information received from an existing client. Submission of information does not prevent Hampton Law Firm from representing another person unless applicable law or professional obligations provide otherwise.

If your matter involves an arrest, court appearance, filing deadline, prescription period, appeal period, foreclosure, eviction, tax sale, closing, or other urgent event, do not rely solely on a website form, email, text message, or voicemail. Contact the office directly and independently confirm that your communication was received.

NO GUARANTEE OF RESULTS

Descriptions of legal services, prior matters, testimonials, reviews, examples, or possible outcomes do not guarantee or predict the result of any future matter.

Every legal matter is different. Results depend on the facts, applicable law, available evidence, conduct of the parties, decisions of courts and agencies, and other circumstances outside the firm's control.

LOUISIANA PRACTICE

Judith L. Hampton is licensed to practice law in the State of Louisiana. Hampton Law Firm's principal office is located in Farmerville, Louisiana.

Unless expressly stated otherwise, the legal information on this website is directed primarily to Louisiana law. It may not apply in another state or jurisdiction. Nothing on this website is intended to represent that Hampton Law Firm or Judith L. Hampton is authorized to practice law in a jurisdiction in which she is not licensed or otherwise authorized to appear.

DIGITAL PRODUCTS AND SELF-HELP MATERIALS

Digital products, templates, forms, checklists, and educational resources are not appropriate for every person or situation. Purchasing or using a digital product does not include individualized legal advice, legal representation, document review, filing, notarization, witnessing, recording, title examination, or court representation unless the product description or a separate written agreement expressly states otherwise.

Users are responsible for determining whether a product is appropriate for their circumstances and for completing, signing, filing, recording, or using it correctly.

THIRD-PARTY LINKS AND SERVICES

This website may contain links to third-party websites, applications, payment processors, scheduling platforms, social-media services, or other resources. Links are provided for convenience and do not necessarily constitute endorsement.

Hampton Law Firm does not control and is not responsible for the availability, accuracy, security, accessibility, terms, or privacy practices of third-party services.

NO WARRANTY

Hampton Law Firm makes reasonable efforts to provide useful and accurate information. However, the website and its content are provided on an “as available” basis. To the extent permitted by law, Hampton Law Firm does not warrant that all content will be complete, current, error-free, uninterrupted, or suitable for a particular purpose.

HAMPTON LAW FIRM, LLC PRIVACY POLICY EFFECTIVE DATE: AUGUST 7, 2026

This Privacy Policy explains how Hampton Law Firm, LLC (“Hampton Law Firm,” “we,” “our,” or “us”) may collect, use, retain, and disclose information obtained through hamptonlawla.com, related online services, intake and contact forms, consultation booking, subscriptions, digital-product purchases, and other interactions with our firm.

This Privacy Policy applies to website and business information. Information received during an attorney-client relationship may also be protected by professional confidentiality obligations, applicable law, and the terms of the written representation agreement.

INFORMATION WE MAY COLLECT

Depending on how you use our website and services, we may collect:

Contact Information

Your name, mailing address, email address, telephone number, and preferred method of communication.

Intake and Matter Information

Information you provide about a legal question or potential matter, including the names of involved persons or entities, parish, court information, relevant dates, general descriptions, and documents you choose to submit.

Please do not submit highly sensitive, privileged, or time-sensitive information until Hampton Law Firm has confirmed that it can receive the information and, when applicable, has established an attorney-client relationship.

Transaction Information

Information related to consultations, purchases, subscriptions, gift cards, and other transactions. Payment-card information is generally processed by third-party payment processors. Hampton Law Firm does not ordinarily receive or retain complete payment-card numbers.

Account and Membership Information

Login details, subscription status, product access, reward or referral activity, preferences, and other information associated with website membership features.

Communications

Emails, text messages, telephone records, voicemails, form submissions, appointment information, customer-service communications, reviews, surveys, and other communications with the firm.

Device and Usage Information

Internet Protocol address, browser type, device type, operating system, pages viewed, referring pages, approximate location derived from an IP address, dates and times of access, cookie identifiers, and similar technical or usage information.

HOW INFORMATION IS COLLECTED

We may collect information:

- Directly from you;
- Automatically through cookies and similar technologies;
- From website, scheduling, payment, communication, analytics, and practice-management service providers;
- From referral sources or people authorized to communicate on your behalf; and
- From public records or other lawful sources when relevant to a requested service or legal matter.

HOW WE MAY USE INFORMATION

We may use information to:

- Respond to questions and requests;
- Conduct preliminary conflict checks;
- Evaluate whether the firm may be able to assist;
- Schedule and conduct consultations;
- Provide legal services to clients;
- Process purchases, subscriptions, and payments;
- Deliver and manage access to digital products;
- Maintain accounts and membership features;
- Communicate about appointments, purchases, matters, services, or policy changes;
- Send educational or marketing communications when permitted by law;
- Improve website content, accessibility, performance, and user experience;
- Protect the security and integrity of our website, accounts, and systems;
- Prevent fraud, misuse, or unauthorized access;
- Maintain business and legal records;
- Exercise or defend legal rights; and
- Comply with professional, ethical, contractual, and legal obligations.

COOKIES AND SIMILAR TECHNOLOGIES

Our website and service providers may use cookies, pixels, local storage, analytics tools, and similar technologies to support website functions, remember preferences, maintain account sessions, measure traffic, understand how visitors use the website, and improve services.

Your browser may allow you to block or delete cookies. Disabling cookies may prevent some website or account features from functioning correctly.

THIRD-PARTY SERVICE PROVIDERS

We may use third-party providers for services such as:

- Website hosting and website features;
- Appointment scheduling;
- Payment processing;
- Email and text communications;
- Analytics;
- Document delivery and electronic signatures;
- Cloud storage;
- Practice management;
- Virtual receptionist or telephone services; and
- Security, technical support, and business operations.

These providers may process information as necessary to perform services for us and may maintain their own privacy policies and terms.

HOW INFORMATION MAY BE DISCLOSED

We may disclose information:

- To employees, contractors, attorneys, and service providers who need it to perform authorized work;
- With your direction or consent;
- To courts, governmental authorities, law-enforcement agencies, or other persons when required or permitted by law;
- To comply with subpoenas, court orders, professional obligations, or legal processes;

- To investigate or prevent fraud, security threats, abuse, or unlawful conduct;
 - To protect the rights, safety, property, or operations of Hampton Law Firm, our clients, website users, or others;
 - In connection with a business transition, reorganization, or transfer, subject to applicable legal and professional obligations; or
 - As otherwise permitted by applicable law and professional rules.

Hampton Law Firm does not sell personal information for money. We do not disclose client information for third-party advertising in a manner inconsistent with our professional obligations.

DATA RETENTION

We retain information for as long as reasonably necessary for the purpose for which it was collected and to comply with legal, ethical, contractual, tax, accounting, record-retention, dispute-resolution, and security obligations.

Different types of information may be retained for different periods. A request to delete information may be limited by professional duties, legal holds, record-retention requirements, or other lawful obligations.

DATA SECURITY

Hampton Law Firm uses reasonable administrative, technical, and physical measures intended to protect information from unauthorized access, loss, misuse, or alteration. No website, transmission method, or storage system can be guaranteed to be completely secure. Please use care when deciding what information to transmit electronically.

YOUR CHOICES AND REQUESTS

You may contact us to:

- Request access to certain personal information maintained about you;
- Ask that inaccurate contact information be corrected;
- Request deletion of information, subject to applicable exceptions;
- Unsubscribe from marketing emails; or
- Ask questions about our privacy practices.

We may need to verify your identity before completing a request. We may also decline or limit a request when permitted or required by law, professional obligations, security concerns, or record-retention requirements.

To stop marketing emails, use the unsubscribe option in the message when available or contact us. Requests to stop marketing communications do not prevent us from sending transactional, appointment-related, account, legal-service, or other necessary communications.

CHILDREN'S PRIVACY

This website is not directed to children under 13, and we do not knowingly solicit personal information directly from children under 13 through general website services. A parent or legal representative seeking legal assistance involving a child may provide information when appropriate. If you believe a child submitted personal information without proper authorization, please contact us.

THIRD-PARTY LINKS

Our website may link to third-party websites or services. Hampton Law Firm is not responsible for the privacy or security practices of third parties. Review the applicable third-party privacy policy before submitting information.

CHANGES TO THIS POLICY

We may revise this Privacy Policy to reflect changes in our practices, website features, service providers, or legal obligations. The updated version will be posted with a revised effective or "last updated" date.

A material change may also be communicated through an additional website notice or other reasonable method when appropriate.

OWNERSHIP OF CONTENT

Unless otherwise identified, the original text, articles, legal education materials, downloadable products, templates, forms, checklists, guides, videos, graphics, photographs, branding, and other original content published by Hampton Law Firm are owned by Hampton Law Firm, LLC or used with permission.

Certain images, fonts, software, platform features, embedded materials, quotations, legal authorities, and other third-party content may be owned by their respective owners and used under license, permission, applicable terms, or law.

PERMITTED WEBSITE USE

You may view, download, or print publicly available website content for your own personal, noncommercial informational use, provided that you:

- Do not remove copyright, attribution, or proprietary notices;
- Do not alter the content in a misleading manner;
- Do not represent the content as your own work;
- Do not publish or redistribute a substantial portion of the content; and
- Do not use the content to provide products or services to another person.

Permission to view website content does not grant ownership or a license to use separately sold digital products. Purchased products are governed by the Digital Product License applicable to those products.

PROHIBITED USES

Without prior written permission, you may not:

- Copy, reproduce, republish, upload, post, transmit, distribute, sell, sublicense, or commercially exploit protected content;
- Share purchased downloads with another person or organization except as expressly allowed by the applicable license;
- Upload Hampton Law Firm content to a public template library, document-sharing service, artificial-intelligence training collection, membership library, or resale platform;
- Remove or alter copyright, trademark, attribution, or license notices;
- Claim authorship or ownership of Hampton Law Firm content;
- Use protected content to create a competing product, template, legal-form library, subscription service, course, or publication; or
- Use Hampton Law Firm's name, logo, branding, or content in a manner that falsely suggests sponsorship, affiliation, endorsement, or authorization.

NO TRANSFER OF OWNERSHIP

Purchasing or receiving a copy of a digital product does not transfer copyright or ownership of the underlying content. The purchaser receives only the limited rights stated in the applicable Digital Product License.

TRADEMARKS AND BRANDING

Hampton Law Firm's name, logos, slogans, product names, and distinctive branding may be protected by trademark and other applicable law. No license to use Hampton Law Firm's branding is granted except through express written permission.

REPORTING UNAUTHORIZED USE

To report suspected unauthorized copying, distribution, resale, or other misuse, please provide:

- A description of the content involved;
- The location of the suspected unauthorized use;
- Your contact information; and
- Any supporting screenshots or links.
